Treatment and care places high demands on transcultural and trauma-specific expertise, diagnostics and capacity for mindful empathy. And – must rehabilitation as reparation rely on the initiation of legal procedures?

This short presentation will describe the role, composition and ways of work. Availability of different treatment options for patients after traumatic events allows for individual choice of type of treatment. This book is invaluable to students and practitioners interested in statistical mechanics and physics. The screening instrument as well as the echoes of the different audiences will be presented in .

By illustrating your experience through presentations on psychological screen. Englund will discuss stress reactions and working conditions among 35 journalists covering the Haiti earthquake.
